Something is wrong at Alexandras company. People are changing, becoming quiet and obedient workers. Alexandra needs the job so she keeps her head down and hopes that whatever is going on will pass her by. It doesn't. Lucas Knight is an enigmatic billionaire who's just taken over the company Alexandra works for. He has a hypnotic gaze that can leave those he turns it on falling to their knees, ready to obey his every command, and he's just set his sights on Alexandra. Warning: This is an erotic adults only short story of over 6000 words containing mind control, BDSM and graphic sexual content. Excerpt: As I stared directly into his eyes, the rest of the world seemed to cloud over and drift away. I felt his fingers stroke my cheek. I couldn't look away. No more worries, he murmured, no more thoughts. Just listen to my voice, and obey. Obey, I murmured, my voice so soft I could barely hear it. I felt a tingle of pleasure between my legs. His eyes blotted out all my other thoughts and desires. I sank into his gaze, falling deeper and deeper. Listening only to his voice. Nothing else mattered any more. Only his eyes. Only him. I stood before Knight, passive and helpless, aware that he was still speaking but I was no longer consciously aware of what he said. Yes, sir, I heard my voice say, though I had no idea what I was agreeing with. I felt a wave of warm pleasure rush through me. I moaned softly as the wave subsided, and left me aroused and eager for more. He smiled at me and an echo of the warm glow returned. He spoke again and the world seemed to snap back into focus, but subtly changed. Everything was as it had been, except for him. I knew who he was now, and I knew my place was to listen to him, and obey. I smiled and I realized it must have been the same serene smile I had seen so often around the office. Master, I breathed. Knight inclined his head, as though merely acknowledging his due.

Very good, Ms Hall...I suppose its more appropriate I address you as Alexandra now. Kneel.I fell to my knees, briefly closing my eyes at the brief flare of arousal that came with obeying him. He looked down at me, and his hand reached for my chin again. His strong fingers tilted my head firmly up. I gazed into his eyes and found myself wanting nothing more than to lose myself in them again. His looked over me, a predator contemplating his freshly captured prey.Youll do whatever I want now, wont you, Alexandra?Yes, I said, not even thinking before I spoke, whatever you want.He nodded, the hint of a smirk on his face.
